ilegx aims for the early diagnosis of the underlying conditions of leg/foot tissue loss and promotes interdisciplinary collaboration which spans the acute and community services to save legs ilegx 2009 continued to attract a balanced interdisciplinary following ilegx 2009 met its educational vision

89.2% of all respondents considered ilegx as good or extremely good in fulfilling the educational reason for attending the conference. The three ilegx educational topics of: DIAGNOSIS, MANAGEMENT & IMPLEMENTATION met the educational needs of the attendees, whereas discussing health care system challenges was less of a reason to attend the conference.

ilegx 2009 was rated for its high educational value

The 10 min rapid-fire, thought provoking lectures delivered by international experts were perceived as excellent or very good by 96% of attendees. 88% of attendees thought that the panel discussions provided a varied clash of opinions, with some attendees having liked even more frequent and longer discussions, particularly on the implementation challenges. The ilegx algorithm was judged by 89.3% of attendees as excellent and very good. ilegx will further improve it by stressing the patient as being at the centre of the "ilegx wheel" as well as including infection control to a larger extent in the wheel.
